CALL FOR DISCUSSION AND PARTICIPATION BY THINKING OUT LOUD

Development for People and Nature Association (DPNA) has lot of challenges at its 14th year, from its strong belief that it is a part of all – a part of the actors of social change, progress and modernization and keeps up struggling toward building a state of law and institutions, modernizing laws, ensuring social justice and administrative decentralization. Struggling to realize a free and quality education for secondary schools and the development of economy for all parties especially the rural ones. Furthermore, provide the required support for the small enterprises and conduct elections on the basis of national developmental programs.

The first challenge: what are the most effective means, ways and programs to work and communicate with children and young people?

Activating the participation and committees, exhibitions of ideas and strategic plans with municipalities and unions, encouraging people to engage in municipal work, especially women and young people, and establishing a new approach by communicating with the losing list and its public.

Activating the role of women agricultural cooperatives through supporting them, building their capacities and helping them write projects that respond to the needs of farmers and women.

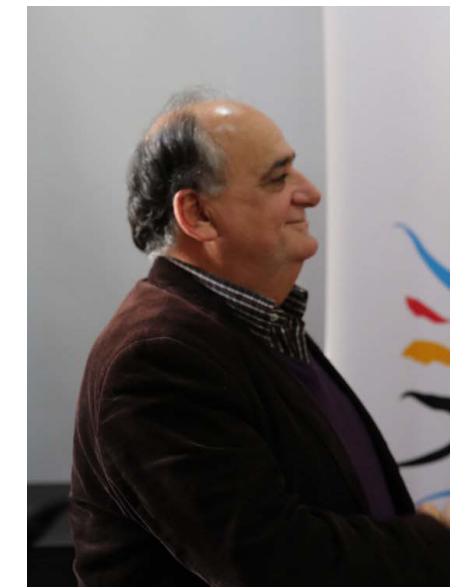

Increase the safe areas in the districts, cities and towns playgrounds / theaters / camps parks. The importance of the economic role to the tourism sector in all its fields and needs.

Respect for natural resources and biodiversity.

Contribute to a wide discussion for a sustainable and scientific solution to the problem of waste on the basis of national policies away from improvisation.

Cooperation and building on the other and integration with universities, the private sector and government institutions.

The fundamental challenge is sustainability, continuity and work within a broad team of civil society organizations to overcome all economic and social crises, protect civil peace and dismantle violence.

Layali Baher Ramadan

This festival was held in Tripoli (Mina) on Abdel Wahab Island where all DPNA staff and volunteers have participated in it for 3 consecutive days. The festival attracted almost 18,000 individuals from all nationalities and social segments from Tripoli and its suburbs to ensure social cohesion in this ancient city, this festival was funded by UNDP. DPNA team was fully responsible to implement this festival including all related activities (Food Court by distributing free meals to all people, Theatrical performances and concerts as well as entertainment activities) aiming to bring joy to people on these precious nights. This festival was a safe place for the children to play, dance and interact between each other thus generating love and peace.

This activity was part of LHSP implemented by MoSA and UNDP.

Saida International Festival

25 volunteers from DPNA have participated for 3 consecutive days in organizing before and during this festival with Saida International Festival Association. The festival combined culture, tourism, and art in the most attractive, musical, and fun activities Saida has to offer. This year's slogan was "Let's make it happen" as the city has been struggling for years and is in dire need of such a festival to showcase the real Saida and inject some activity to the local economy. From the Sea Citadel to Khan Al-Franj, the Soap museum, the Debbaneh Castle and others, Saida, Lebanon's third largest city and one of its most ancient ones, is rich with cultural and natural heritage.

Forestation in Rmeileh and Saida Entrance

Forestation at the entrance of Saida, Rmeileh and Saida municipalities participated in the initiative's execution; the initiative was in partnership with Secours Populaire Francaise (SPF) and the French Embassy in Lebanon, funded by Centre De Crise in Ministry of Foreign Affairs - France.

Capacity Building for LIU Students

DPNA organized a series of capacity building trainings on Employability skills for the students at the Lebanese International University (LIU). These trainings revolved around: emotional intelligence, presentation skills, leadership skills, CV writing and job interview skills, negotiation and communication skills and time management.

Hosting "Fighters for Peace"

DPNA hosted "Fighters for Peace" association where they held a seminar for more than 150 persons and talked about their own experience in the Lebanese civil war. A small exhibition was organized after the seminar showcasing different life stories of past fighters in the war.
